

KEVIN M. ZIEGLER | Chief Technology Officer

EXECUTIVE PROFILE

Kevin Ziegler is a distinguished Chief Technology Officer and pioneering technology entrepreneur with a proven track record in executive leadership, strategic innovation, and product development. A pragmatic technologist and culture advocate, Kevin excels in assembling high-performing teams and leading them through groundbreaking product development, cloud adoption, and comprehensive IT management strategies. Kevin resides 15 minutes north of downtown Milwaukee with his wife and three children.

PROFESSIONAL HIGHLIGHTS

Kevin's professional achievements reflect his exceptional leadership and innovation in the tech sector. As Co-Founder and CTO of Navix.io, he catapulted the startup to $6MM ARR in just three years, leveraging cutting-edge technology and assembling a top-tier engineering team with a 100% team retention rate. His strategic guidance at early-stage startups Wallit.io and Syntax has been crucial in developing groundbreaking products.

Kevin's consultancy roles have been pivotal in leading major cloud architecture and digital transformation initiatives for renowned clients, including Milwaukee Tool, DuPont, and Accenture Federal Services. His profound expertise in cloud solutions and infrastructure management has established him as a highly valued fractional CTO and advisor for a wide range of startups and SMBs. In this capacity, Kevin has accelerated development timelines, honed in on product-market fit, and crafted overarching technology and product strategies. His role in founding Great Lakes Solutions further illustrates his enduring influence on the software development and logistics sectors, affirming his status as a tech visionary.

EDUCATION

Kevin holds a Bachelor of Science in Computer Information Systems from the University of Wisconsin - Stevens Point where he was a Chancellor's Leadership Award recipient. Kevin was also president of the Tau Kappa Epsilon chapter.

TECH COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

An active member of the tech community, Kevin leads the Milwaukee Founders Community, mentors at the For-M Startup Incubator, and frequently speaks at industry events, demonstrating his commitment to fostering innovation and passion for helping founders.

SUMMARY

Kevin Ziegler embodies the intersection of technological acumen and visionary leadership, with a distinguished career marked by his ability to drive innovation, cultivate talent, and deliver tangible results. His approach to technology management not only accelerates company growth but also establishes strong, innovative cultures within organizations.